Purpose of the Ministries

The Ministry of Justice and the Ministry of Public Safety and Solicitor General work together to administer justice, deliver public safety services and programs, and provide legal services to government.<sup>1</sup> They accomplish this through dedicated and professional staff, and through innovation and service excellence in fulfilling the following responsibilities:

Our vision is a safe, secure, just and resilient British Columbia.

Strategic Direction and Context

Strategic Direction

The Ministry of Justice and the Ministry of Public Safety and Solicitor General share the same goals and objectives for the justice and public safety sector in British Columbia, as identified in this joint service plan and work together to achieve them.

The ministries support government's commitment to a strong economy and secure tomorrow for the citizens of British Columbia, outlined in the Province of British Columbia Strategic Plan 2016/17 – 2018/19, and deliver their responsibilities in accordance with the Taxpayer Accountability Principles.

The ministries are committed to continuing to transform the justice and public safety sector, working in collaboration with leaders, participants and stakeholders across the sector. This commitment is consistent with the direction provided by Premier Christy Clark in her December 2015 mandate letters to the Attorney General and Minister of Justice, Suzanne Anton, and the Minister of Public Safety and Solicitor General, Mike Morris. The letters established a number of priorities for the justice and public safety sector and these priorities continue to guide the work of the ministries.

Justice and public safety sector transformation is also being informed by ongoing engagement with Indigenous leadership and communities in order to build stronger relationships and reach an understanding of what can be done differently to improve health and wellbeing outcomes for Indigenous peoples across British Columbia. The ministries will encourage increasing engagement and discussion with Indigenous leadership and communities throughout the justice and public safety sector.

Strategic Context

Numerous factors affect the ministries in delivering their responsibilities and shape the transformation agenda of the justice and public safety sector, including:

- the national dialogue on the need to improve access to justice;
- the opioid public health emergency;
- mental health and addiction issues demanding increasing resources and enhanced coordination of services;
- over-representation of Indigenous people in the justice system, as both victims and offenders;
- violence against women;
- guns and gangs;
- increasing service delivery demands and costs;
- rapidly changing technology and increasing expectations for digitized services;
- federal government commitments that impact the province;
- constitutional and legislative requirements;
- external audits, reviews and commissions of inquiry; and,
- court decisions impacting service delivery, including timeliness of service.

The ministries are committed to a justice and public safety sector that is fair, protects people and has the public's confidence, and is innovative, sustainable and accountable. This demands that the ministries:

- maintain efficient and affordable operations and service delivery;
- have effective governance structures;
- continue to implement a robust and evolving plan for transformation;
- ensure strategic alignment between budget, investments and transformative goals and objectives;
- identify, understand, accept and manage the risks associated with transformation; and
- monitor, measure and report on performance for accountability.

Goals, Objectives, Strategies and Performance Measures

The Ministry of Justice and the Ministry of Public Safety and Solicitor General have jointly adopted the goals and objectives developed by British Columbia's Justice and Public Safety Council, as set out in the Strategic Plan for the Justice and Public Safety Sector, April 2014 – March 2017 and reaffirmed in the second annual update to the plan released in March 2016. This sector-wide strategic plan and the subsequent updates were developed by the Council based on a wide range of advice, consultation and recommendations obtained through semi-annual Justice Summits held with leaders, participants and stakeholders across the justice and public safety sector in British Columbia. These goals and objectives have been identified by the Council as essential to the health of the sector.

To maintain trust, we must ensure fairness. We must protect people, especially those who are most vulnerable. We must manage the sector in an innovative and sustainable way and, finally, we must ensure that the public has confidence in the integrity of the sector.

Strategic Plan for the Justice and Public Safety Sector, April 2014 – March 2017

In working toward these goals and objectives, the ministries are committed to applying an Indigenous lens to our work in order to support culturally responsive and relevant policies, programs and services that address the unique needs of Indigenous peoples.

This section sets out the goals and objectives of the ministries and identifies the strategies developed to achieve them. Although the strategies are grouped under specific goals, many of them support more than one goal. Also included are select performance measures, several of which are related to multiple goals and objectives.

The measures included represent only a few of the many potential indicators of performance. Measuring the performance of justice and public safety programs and processes is complex. Longterm outcomes are affected by many factors and are not under the exclusive control of any one program area or ministry. The complex nature of justice and public safety outcomes requires a collective and integrated response from all justice and public safety sector stakeholders and partners.

Work is underway to increase the capacity of the justice and public safety sector to measure and report on performance to improve accountability and transparency. As part of this work, the ministries will engage with Indigenous leadership and organizations regarding development of indicators of Indigenous justice and wellbeing outcomes.

Goal 1: The justice and public safety sector in British Columbia is fair

Objective 1.1	Accessible
Objective 1.2	Impartial
Objective 1.3	Timely

Strategies

The Ministry of Justice and the Ministry of Public Safety and Solicitor General are increasing access to justice and efficiency of resource management through streamlined business practices, technology and alternative service delivery models. Examples of key initiatives reflecting this strategy include:

- The Civil Resolution Tribunal, Canada's first online tribunal to hear strata and small claims cases and reach binding decisions enforceable as a court order;
- Tribunal Transformation for more effective and efficient administrative tribunal services;
- Criminal Case Management and Court Scheduling with an Assignment Court model implemented in seven court locations to reduce delay and increase certainty in scheduling;
- The Comprehensive Disclosure Strategy aimed at enhancing efficiencies and relieving workload pressures for both the B.C. Prosecution Service and police;
- Justice Access Centres, which feature an integrated approach to helping clients reach early and affordable solutions to their family and civil justice issues, including a new Justice Access Centre in Surrey, expected to be operational by spring 2018;
- Reforms to ensure that the laws and procedures people use to resolve their issues reflect and respond to the changing needs of British Columbians; and
- The Road Safety Initiative, which is expected to shift traffic disputes out of court, improve public safety through greater police efficiency, and create more effective and efficient processes that are more accessible for citizens.

The ministries also strive to provide early assistance and support early resolution through:

• Support of Justice Innovation and Transformation Initiatives delivered through Legal Services Society (i.e., Expanded Criminal Duty Counsel, Expanded Family Duty Counsel, the enhanced Family LawLINE, and the Parents Legal Centre), with additional annual government funding approved for initial expansion of these pilot initiatives, including establishing a Surrey Parents Legal Centre location in 2017/18;

- Strengthened enforcement of child and spousal support orders through the Family Maintenance Enforcement Program; and
- Implementation of recommendations in the Lower Fraser Valley Regional Plan Court Capacity Expansion Project Final Report, including construction of a new 14 room courthouse in Abbotsford (see page 20).

Goal 2: The justice and public safety sector in British Columbia protects people

- Objective 2.1 Preventative
- Objective 2.2 Protective
- Objective 2.3 Systemic Approach

Strategies

A key strategic priority for the ministries is to engage Indigenous leadership, organizations and communities in creating better outcomes for Indigenous people across the justice and public safety sector through:

- The Minister's Advisory Council on Aboriginal Women, the BC Aboriginal Justice Council, and the First Nations Health Council;
- Support of the FPT Justice Framework to Address Violence Against Indigenous Women and Girls;
- Implementation of the Specialized Courts Strategy, including conducting analyses of First Nations court models and creation of the Aboriginal Family Healing Court Conference pilot program in New Westminster, jointly piloted with the Ministry of Children and Family Development;
- Exploring ways to improve access to justice in the North and in remote Indigenous communities, including increased use of alternative dispute resolution in child welfare matters as an alternative to a full court process;
- Developing and implementing Indigenous cultural safety training and trauma informed practices;
- Supporting the Ministry of Children and Family Development in reviewing the child protection system for Indigenous peoples;
- Supporting First Nations policing;
- Partnerships with Indigenous communities, contractors and organizations to support culturally relevant, community based alternatives and supports to the formal justice system;
- Collaboration between the Coroners Service and the First Nations Health Authority; and
- Strengthened relationships with local Indigenous leadership and communities.

These engagement activities inform steps towards progress in each Goal area of this service plan, and support strategies and activities throughout the justice and public safety sector.

The ministries are working to strengthen prevention, protection and support for victims of crime, and marginalized and vulnerable women and their children through:

- The Violence Free BC strategy;
- Domestic violence prevention and intervention measures, such as support for the Provincial Domestic Violence Plan, support of Domestic Violence Units, Domestic Violence Courts, domestic violence programming in Corrections, utilization of contracted professionals to serve protection orders where needed, and the #SaySomething social media and radio campaign;
- Support of Memorandum of Understanding Regarding Stopping Violence Against Aboriginal Women and Girls signed in June 2014 by the Province, the First Nations Summit, the Union of BC Indian Chiefs, the BC Assembly of First Nations, and the President of the Metis Nation of BC.
- Support of the National Inquiry into Missing and Murdered Indigenous Women and Girls, including establishment of a Family Information Liaison Unit with federal funding to support family members during the Inquiry;
- The Trauma Informed Practice Project, undertaken as part of the Department of Justice Canada's five year investment to enhance and support services to victims and survivors of crime in British Columbia;
- Provincial Policing Standards, including Provincial Policing Standards on Missing Persons Investigations; and
- BC's Action Plan to Combat Human Trafficking.

The ministries are engaging health, justice and public safety organizations in establishing a common provincial approach to mental health and addiction challenges. Work in this area includes:

- Support for the Cabinet Working Group on Mental Health;
- Creation of the Joint Task Force on Overdose Response in cooperation with the Ministry of Health to respond to the opioid crisis;
- Creation of the BC Coroners Service Drug Death Investigation Team;
- Continued support of evidence-based, specialized courts, such as Vancouver's Downtown Community Court, the Drug Treatment Court of Vancouver, First Nations Courts, Domestic Violence Courts and the Victoria Integrated Court;
- Promotion of information sharing between police agencies and health service providers;
- Crisis Intervention and De-escalation training for police;
- Corrections mental health assessments and coordinated programs and services; and
- The Integrated Offender Management/Homelessness Intervention Program.

In addition to the above strategies, the ministries work to improve community and road safety for all British Columbians through:

• The expanded Guns and Gangs Strategy, including creation of an Illegal Firearms Task Force; targeting prolific, violent and gang affiliated offenders; and the establishment of the Office of Crime Reduction and Gang Outreach;

- The Integrated Community Safety Initiative to better address the root causes of crime and violence in the Williams Lake and Cariboo-Chilcotin region;
- The BC Policing and Community Safety Plan;
- Community-based crime prevention initiatives;
- BC Coroners Service investigations, inquests and death review panels;
- The Public Safety Issues Committee on Cannabis Legalization;
- Safe and secure supervision in correctional centres and community corrections offices;
- Research based correctional programming aimed at reducing reoffending; and
- The BC Road Safety Strategy 2015 and Beyond, and Moving to Vision Zero: Road Strategy Update and Showcase of Innovation in British Columbia, aimed at making British Columbia roads the safest in North America.

Goal 3: The justice and public safety sector in British Columbia is sustainable

Objective 3.1	Focused
Objective 3.2	Managed
Objective 3.3	Effective

Strategies

As indicated under Goal 1, the ministries are increasing access to justice and the efficiency of resource management through streamlined business practices, technology, and alternative service delivery models. Examples of work reflecting the strategic focus on sustainability include:

- The Court Administration Transformation Suite, a series of initiatives that use innovative business processes and technology to improve access to justice and information sharing, sustain courts, and provide a range of quality services that enhance citizens' experiences with the justice and public safety sector;
- Innovative ways to move certain types of disputes out of courtrooms, such as the Civil Resolution Tribunal and the Immediate Roadside Prohibition Program, so that court resources may be reserved for the most serious matters;
- A review of police structure, governance, funding and service delivery that was completed and is now informing continued policy analysis;
- Information management and information technology systems modernization and outcomes management;
- Increased Lean<sup>2</sup> capacity and practices to support improvement of processes and services while building internal capacity;

&lt;sup>2</sup> Lean is a continuous improvement philosophy that empowers employees to identify problems and create solutions. The LeanBC vision is that citizens' experience of government is improved through modernizing service delivery and streamlining government operations.

- The Legal Operations Optimization Project, focused on efficiencies and client service in providing legal advice and services to government;
- Electronic supervision of high-risk offenders and secure access to electronic justice services in Corrections; and
- Support for implementing an Integrated Services Network in Surrey, as recommended in the 2014 Surrey Criminal Justice Recommendations Report, to provide a single location for all justice, health and social service agencies involved in the co-delivery of programs and services aimed at reducing crime in Surrey.

Goal 4: The justice and public safety sector in British Columbia has the public's confidence

- Objective 4.1 Adaptive
- Objective 4.2 Performance-focused
- Objective 4.3 Empowering

Strategies

The ministries are working to increase public confidence in the justice and public safety sector through education, transparency and performance reporting. This includes:

- Justice Summits held semi-annually to encourage innovation and facilitate collaboration across the justice and public safety sector;
- Business intelligence and performance management systems to support strategic planning and evidence-based decision making;
- Publication of justice and public safety data sets via DataBC and data dashboards;
- Coroners Service reporting on Medical Assistance in Dying (MAiD) and overdose deaths; and
- Strengthening consumer protection policies and legislation.

Performance Measure 1:

Crime rates

Police-reported crime rates in B.C. ( Criminal Code offences per 1,000 persons)	2015 Baseline¹	2016 Forecast	2017 Target	2018 Target	2019 Target
Violent crime <sup>2</sup>	12.2	12.0	12.0	12.0	12.0
Property crime <sup>3</sup>	49.8	52.0	52.0	52.0	52.0
Other crime⁴	16.5	16.7	16.7	16.7	16.7
Overall crime rate	78.4	80.6	80.6	80.6	80.6

Data Source: Crime rates are obtained through the Uniform Crime Reporting Survey. Every police agency across Canada participates in this annual survey, which is managed nationally by the Canadian Centre for Justice Statistics, a part of Statistics Canada. Crime rates are based on all police-reported violent crime, property crime and other offences, but do not include offences that are traffic, drug or federal statute related.

<sup>3</sup> Property offences include the offence categories of theft, motor vehicle theft, possession of stolen property, trafficking in stolen goods, identity theft, identity fraud, breaking and entering, arson, mischief, fraud, and altering/removing/destroying a vehicle identification number.

<sup>4</sup> Criminal Code offences which are not violent or property related are classified as other offences. These include, but are not limited to, counterfeiting, offensive weapons, child pornography, gaming and betting, offences related to currency, disturbing the peace, and offences against the administration of justice.

Discussion

The crime rate is the number of Criminal Code offences (excluding drug crimes and traffic-related offences) reported for every 1,000 persons. It is a better measure of trends in crime than is the actual number of offences because it allows for population differences.

Many factors influence police-reported crime rates, including demographic changes, neighbourhood conditions, social and economic factors, public reporting practices, Crown and police charging practices, technological advancements, legislative amendments, local police service priorities, and social perceptions and attitudes towards certain crimes. While government does not control crime rates, crime reduction strategies are a priority of the justice and public safety sector and crime rates are tracked as an indicator of progress toward the goal of protecting people.

After ten years of consecutive annual decreases, British Columbia's overall crime rate increased in 2014 (by 2.2 per cent) and increased again by 3.5 per cent in 2015, rising from 75.8 to 78.4 offences per 1,000 population. In 2014 the increase was driven entirely by property crimes, while in 2015 all three offence types saw year-over-year increases.

2015 saw the first rise in the violent crime rate and the 'other' crime rate in B.C. in a decade. The violent crime rate rose by 6.1 per cent (from 11.5 violent offences per 1,000 population in 2014 to 12.2); similarly, the 'other' crime rate rose by 5.9 per cent (from 15.6 offences per 1,000 population in 2014 to 16.5).

Despite these increases, B.C.'s overall crime rate and violent crime rate are 33 per cent and 36 per cent lower than in 2005, respectively. Increases in crime rates were recorded for Canada in 2015, as well as in eight of the 13 provinces/territories.

Crime rates tend to fluctuate from year to year; however, the general trends over time in both Canada and B.C. showed a steady increase in crime rates from 1962 to 1991, followed by generally declining crime rates between 1992 and 2014.

The recent increases in the rate of crime in Canada and B.C. indicate a reversal of the downward trend that may continue over the next number of years. If the upward trend continues, it will likely occur across all western industrialized nations as has occurred in the past. It is for these reasons that the targets established for 2017 through 2019 are to maintain the rates forecasted for 2016, rather than targeting reductions in crime rates as the justice and public safety sector has done in the past.

Performance Measure 2: Rates of Non-reoffending

Percentage of adult offenders who are not re-convicted in BC within two years of release from custody, commencement of community supervision, or active community supervision. <sup>1</sup>	2015/16 Baseline	2016/17 Forecast	2017/18 Target	2018/19 Target	2019/20 Target
Community Corrections <sup>2</sup>	74.6	73.2	73.5	73.8	74.1
Custody <sup>3</sup>	47.9	48.6	48.8	49.0	49.2
Overall rate of non- reoffending <sup>4</sup>	70.1	69.0	69.3	69.6	69.9

Data Source: BC Corrections, Ministry of Public Safety and Solicitor General.

<sup>1</sup> This measure is based on offence date rather than sentence date. That means it includes all individuals, regardless of court date, who are not reconvicted with an offence date that falls within the two-year follow-up period. Therefore, the rates reported may shift slightly over time. The rate is calculated at the conclusion of each fiscal year for the purpose of service plans and annual reports. Each year's rate is based on the cohort two years prior. In other words, the 2016/17 forecast rate is based on offenders admitted and/or released in 2014/15.

<sup>2</sup> The Community Corrections rate is derived from individuals whose supervision was all or mostly in the community. It is the percentage of offenders who do not return to Corrections within two years of commencement or active community supervision.

<sup>3</sup> The Custody rate is derived from individuals who were released from custody and did not receive follow-up supervision in the community. It is the percentage of offenders who do not return to Corrections within two years of their release from custody.

<sup>4</sup> The overall rate of non-reoffending is the percentage of offenders who do not return to Corrections within two years of commencement of active supervision in the community or release from custody.

Discussion

Rates of non-reoffending are used as a litmus test when assessing the overall effectiveness of the justice and public safety sector in deterring and rehabilitating offenders, and thereby contributing to the goal of protecting people. However, criminal behavior is highly complex, involving a variety of individual and societal factors, and overall rates are slow to change. Therefore, targeting modest gains in these rates is appropriate. It should be noted that trends in non-reoffending rates are best examined over the long term, as it is expected that there will be minor fluctuations in these rates from year to year.

Each jurisdiction in Canada calculates recidivism using different variables for the follow-up time frame, the indicator of conviction (for example, most use sentencing date while BC Corrections uses offence date), and the definition of the sample to track. BC Corrections is working on a multi-year project with its provincial, territorial and federal counterparts to standardize a series of definitions, including recidivism.

Improving rates of non-reoffending is a priority of the justice and public safety sector, and efforts to do so will continue to focus on evidence-based strategies and increased collaboration among justice, public safety, social services and health partners.

Performance Measure 3: Traffic fatality and serious injury rates

Performance Measure	2011-2015 Baseline <sup>1</sup>	2016 Forecast <sup>2</sup>	2017 Target	2018 Target	2019 Target
Number of traffic fatalities per 100,000 population <sup>3</sup>	6.2	5.9	5.7	5.5	5.2
Number of serious traffic injuries per 100,000 population <sup>4</sup>	54.8	53.5	51.3	49.1	47.1

Data Source: Population estimates and projections are from BC Stats and are as of July 1st each year. Results are reported by calendar year rather than fiscal year. All numbers have been rounded to the closest tenth.

Discussion

Traffic fatality and serious injury rates are indicators linked to the goal of protecting people. As these rates are affected by random variations from year to year, trends in the rates are most meaningful when considered over the long term. The influence of factors external to government programs must also be taken into account. Despite these considerations, reductions in traffic fatalities and serious injuries over the long term remain good indicators of road safety improvements.

The targets are based on annual reductions of three per cent from the 2016 forecasts.

Performance Measure 4:Rate of traffic fatalities and serious injuriesinvolving high-risk driving behaviours

	Baseline	Forecast <sup>1</sup>	Target	Target	Target
The number, per 100,000 BC population, of fatalities and serious injuries resulting from a crash where alcohol, drugs, speeding and/or distraction were assessed to be a factor <sup>2</sup>	33.7	30.4	29.1	27.9	26.7

Data Source: Population estimates and projections are from BC Stats and are as of July 1st each year. Results are reported by calendar year rather than fiscal year. All numbers have been rounded to the closest tenth. Police attend most crashes occurring on a public road that result in serious injuries or fatalities. At the scene of such crashes, police record on an accident report form (MV6020) the factors they believe influenced the crash and assess whether victims have serious or fatal injuries. Serious injuries are assessed by the officer and may differ from hospitalization counts. A fatality or serious injury with more than one of the high-risk driving contributing factors (alcohol, drugs, speeding and/or distraction) will be counted once for each incidence reported.

<sup>1</sup> The forecast rate for 2016 is based on the most recent data available, extrapolated from January to August actuals. It is to be considered preliminary until the data have settled and been fully approved.

<sup>2</sup> Data on the number of traffic fatalities is from the Traffic Accident System (TAS) maintained by the Insurance Corporation of British Columbia, TAS Q3 2016.

Discussion

Combatting the high-risk driving behaviours within the scope of this measure (alcohol, drugs, speeding and distraction) is a priority of the justice and public safety sector, and the measure is an indicator of success in protecting the public from these road safety risks.

The targets are based on annual reductions of three per cent from the 2016 forecast.

Performance Measure 5: Timeliness of Victim Financial Assistance claim adjudication

	Baseline <sup>1</sup>	Forecast	Target	Target	Target
Average number of days to adjudicate claims for financial assistance from victims and others impacted by violent crime	75	75	75	75	75

Data Source: Results for this measure are derived from the Electronic Victim Information System, taking into account the dates claims were received and the dates they were completed, as well as the cases that remain outstanding.

<sup>1.</sup> The 2015/16 baseline has been revised to 75 days from the 63 days reported in the Ministry of Justice and Ministry of Public Safety and Solicitor General 2015/16 Annual Service Plan Report based on final data for that fiscal year. The 63 day timeframe initially reported was reflective of decisions completed to May 31, 2015, which included decisions on 90 percent of the applications received.

Discussion

This measure indicates the level of client service and system efficiency in administering the Crime Victim Assistance Program within the Ministry of Public Safety and Solicitor General under the Crime Victim Assistance Act. Along with the following two performance measures, it is linked to the goal of a justice and public safety sector that is fair, as well as the goal of protecting people.

The 2015/16 baseline represents adjudication of 98 per cent of claims received in that fiscal year. The baseline of 75 days for adjudication compares to a 317-day timeframe for adjudication in Ontario in 2014/15, where approximately 700 fewer applications were received.

Targets for this measure are based on the 2015/16 baseline, the forecast for 2016/17, staffing levels and projections for the number of applications that will be received by the program. The 2016/17 forecast of 75 days and the subsequent year targets reflect an ambitious effort to maintain this high level of service in the face of increasing applications. The program forecasts that it will receive over 100 more applications in 2016/17 than in 2015/16, representing a 2.5 per cent increase, for an estimated total of 4,166 applications in 2016/17. This growth trend is anticipated to continue into the future.

To determine claimants' eligibility for benefits, the Ministry of Public Safety and Solicitor General must obtain supporting information from third parties, such as police and medical professionals. This reliance on third parties to provide information results in the majority of claims being adjudicated within approximately three months; urgent cases requiring immediate assistance are expedited.

Performance Measure 6:

Policing Standards

Performance Measure	2015/16	2016/17	2017/18	2018/19	2019/20
	Baseline	Forecast	Target	Target	Target
Cumulative number of binding British Columbia Provincial Policing Standards approved for implementation	29	34	38	42	44

Data Source: Results for this measure are derived from records kept by the Policing and Security Branch, Ministry of Public Safety and Solicitor General.

Discussion

The British Columbia Provincial Policing Standards serve to set benchmarks against which certain aspects of police activities are measured. They are designed to ensure the safe and effective delivery of policing and to strengthen police accountability.

The development of new policing standards is undertaken by the Ministry of Public Safety and Solicitor General in consultation with an advisory committee comprised of interested stakeholders. Fiscal implications are considered during the development of new standards and significant efforts are made to mitigate costs. The ministry continues to work toward developing additional standards in response to the recommendations from the Missing Women Commission of Inquiry Report.

Performance Measure 7:

Average child and family support payments per case per year recovered through the Family Maintenance Enforcement Program

Performance Measure	2011/12 - 2015/16 Baseline <sup>1</sup>	2016/17 Forecast	2017/18 Target	2018/19 Target	2019/20 Target
Average child and family support payments per case per year recovered through the Family Maintenance Enforcement Program	$5,711	$6,435	$6,666	$6,906	$7,155

Data Source: Results for this measure are derived from the Family Maintenance Enforcement Program Case Management Application, Ministry of Justice. Results are calculated as total payments per fiscal year divided by the total number of cases. A case is defined as a court order for support with a payor and a recipient.

Discussion

The Family Maintenance Enforcement Program in the Ministry of Justice was responsible for the administration of an annual average of 43,108 cases during the baseline period of 2011/12 to 2015/16, including necessary enforcement measures to ensure payment of child and family support. Case management activities are carefully tracked, including enrolment of cases, payments, enforcement measures taken (administrative and court) and communications with clients.

A key outcome measure for the program is the average payments per year to families enrolled in the program. The targets for the measure are based on trend analyses conducted by the Family Maintenance Enforcement Program.
