Introductory Note — A Year of Transition

The Government of British Columbia and its ministries are committed to reporting on performance. The Budget Transparency and Accountability Act (BTAA), as amended in August 2001, provides the legislative framework for a regular cycle of planning, reporting and accountability. Under the BTAA, ministries are responsible for producing three-year service plans (previously called performance plans), which are updated yearly, and annual service plan reports (formerly called performance reports). The amended BTAA takes effect beginning with the 2002/03 fiscal year. The first three-year service plans, covering the period 2002/03 to 2004/05, were released with the provincial budget on February 19, 2002.

This annual report relates to the previous fiscal year, covering April 1, 2001, to March 31, 2002. This was a transition year, with a new government sworn into office on June 5, 2001. On that day, there was an extensive reorganization of ministries, which were given significant new policy direction and tasked with the responsibility for implementing the government's New Era commitments. Later in the year, ministries proceeded through the core services review, which refined the mandates of ministries and identified the strategic shifts required to move government toward its long-term objectives.

This report provides an update on all that activity and also provides a report on performance, approaching the model provided by the BTAA as closely as is possible in the circumstances. An annual report would normally relate back to a preceding plan and report on the results achieved compared with the intentions outlined in that plan. In this case, the preceding plan was produced before the adoption of the significant changes outlined above, and as noted, this ministry has been significantly reorganized, and policies and priorities have changed. This limits the extent to which performance information as described in the previous plan is useful.

Consequently, this report sets out the ministry's redefined role and the services it provides, and — within the context of its goals and objectives as they evolved through the year — describes the achievements of the ministry and the performance targets being used to measure success.

Accountability Statement

The 2001/02 Ministry of Provincial Revenue Annual Report was prepared under my direction and I am accountable for the results the ministry achieved since June 5, 2001. This report describes progress made in this first year on the government's New Era commitments, which are to be addressed by May 17, 2005.

Ministry of Provincial Revenue

On June 5, 2001 I was appointed Minister of Provincial Revenue, a new ministry created with a single focus on effective and efficient collection of tax revenue, stumpage revenue, overdue payments for various fees and loans, and oil, gas and mineral revenues. In recent years there has been a sharp increase in overdue accounts receivable and the ministry's creation is intended to reverse this trend.

Collection of revenue is important because it is these revenues which fund government programs. In the past, with tax and debt collection responsibility found in a number of ministries, it was often treated as a lower priority than program delivery. For my ministry it is our priority.

The efficient collection of revenue serves another purpose as well. While we work to encourage voluntary compliance we also want to make sure that all taxpayers and debtors are treated equitably. We devote significant resources to identify and pursue individuals and corporations that have not complied with provincial tax legislation or terms and conditions of loans. This effort helps produce significant amounts of revenue.

While we had a good first year, there remains work to be done. There remain many different revenue collection systems in government and we need to continue to explore, with taxpayers, how to streamline our activities in a way which reduces their costs and improves efficiency. Fortunately, the staff in the ministry, most of which I have had the pleasure of meeting, are committed and dedicated individuals who work hard every day in support of our ministry's objective.

Message from the Deputy Minister

Although the Ministry of Provincial Revenue is new, its revenue collection activities are not. Every achievement detailed in this annual report reflects the hard work of a seasoned, dedicated team. Our success in the past year and in future years will depend on their constant focus on achieving our performance targets. Management's job is to ensure that staff has the tools they need to succeed.

In reviewing our performance over the past year, as documented in this report, it is easy to forget that what was accomplished occurred during a time when the ministry was created and reorganized, during a time when we brought 118 new staff into the ministry and also in a time when the fiscal realities facing the government created a significant amount of uncertainty. It is a testament to the professionalism and dedication of all ministry employees that we accomplished as much as we did during 2001/02 fiscal year.

I would like to use this opportunity to extend my thanks to all staff in the ministry for their support over the past year. As our new ministry heads into its second year, management will work hard on developing and implementing a new human resource plan to ensure that we have the skills, abilities and opportunities required to meet future challenges.

Ministry Divisions' Accountability and Accomplishments

This section of the annual report is devoted to the efforts of the Ministry's branches and divisions by highlighting their major accountabilities and accomplishments during the fiscal year.

The Ministry of Provincial Revenue has three main divisions:

- Strategic Initiatives and Administration
- Revenue Programs
- Collection and Loan Management

In addition, some of the divisions have included summaries that represent their work while transitioning from their former Ministries to the new Ministry of Provincial Revenue. The scale of the reporting varies as does the size and scope of each area.

Strategic Initiatives and Administration Division

Strategic Initiatives and Administration Division provides the Ministry with strategic planning, financial and budget management, billing, receivables and payment processing of $9.5 billion in tax revenue, system development, administrative support functions and interaction with central government agencies. In addition, the division is responsible for appeals, assessments, disallowed refunds or decisions of the administrator or commissioner. The division consists of Strategic Initiatives Branch, Appeals Branch, Corporate Services Branch, Billings and Receivable Branch and Information Systems Branch.

Revenue Programs Division

The Revenue Programs Division consolidates the revenue administration branches of the ministry to provide fair, efficient and equitable revenue administration. The division consists of the Income Taxation Branch, the Consumer Taxation Branch, the Real Property Taxation Branch, the Forest Revenue Branch and the Mineral Oil and Gas Revenue Branch.

The establishment of a Revenue Programs Division in January 2002 effectively consolidates the ministry's tax and natural resource revenue administration activities. The division represents a key business area of government where, in addition to benefit administration, revenue administration activities are balanced among taxpayer and client assistance, education and service on one hand with compliance activities on the other hand. With annual gross revenue of over $9.5 billion, the division's programs are the largest source of provincial revenues, required to support public services to meet the needs of citizens in British Columbia.

TARGET: Better service for taxpayers that call.

PROGRESS: Building on the increased service to taxpayers through the telephone tree installed in fiscal 2000/01, the system was further upgraded with the ability to install eight additional telephones at the CTB call centre during times of heavy volume, e.g., new legislative initiatives. In addition, the Collection Section will be installing an automated call distribution system.

TARGET: Complete the TACS system by December 2000.

PROGRESS: The TACS system is fully implemented and contributing significantly to the reduction of administrative burden and increasing revenue collected.

TARGET: Develop and improve the standards, navigation, content and functionality of the division's current web sites to provide more information and services to taxpayers.

PROGRESS: CTB website was invaluable in providing complete, accurate, and timely information regarding the 2001 Budget, the July 2001 Economic and Fiscal Update, and the 2002 Budget. There are over 3,900 subscribers to the site's automatic update service. The number of forms and information has also increased. 1,800 new businesses registered electronically via the Internet to collect tax. ITB continued to upgrade and improve its site, resulting in over 111,000 visitors. Nearly 600 users subscribe to the site's update service.

PROGRESS: CTB will be meeting with CCRA to review options for this program in view of concerns raised with respect to its impact on international trade.

TARGET: Maintain or enhance tobacco enforcement programs.

PROGRESS: Undertook the redrafting of the Tobacco Tax Act regulations to implement the blackstock tobacco program. Under this program all tobacco intended for an exempt sale in British Columbia must bear a particular mark, referred to as blackstock. Public information materials were developed for tobacco wholesalers, tobacco retailers, and exempt-sale retailers.

TARGET: Continue to expand and refine collection strategies, methods and reporting.

PROGRESS: Maintained a strategic audit plan to focus audit resources in the areas of highest potential recovery. CTB Dawson Creek office program focused on OOP contractors working in the oil and gas industry. Audit recovery was $460,000. Out-of-province businesses meeting the broader registration and tax-collection requirements (those who solicit business, accept orders for and make sales to BC residents, and cause tangible personal property to be delivered into BC — introduced in 2000/01) were contacted by letter and asked to register. Some were also selected for audit. Development of tobacco tax desk audit program to review collectors' returns to increase voluntary compliance. A similar desk audit program for motor fuel identified over $315,000 in recoveries.

TARGET: Work with advisory group and other stakeholders to identify issues to be resolved through the legislative process.

PROGRESS: Revenue Programs Advisory Committee (RPAC) meets to discuss issues of importance. RPAC's Audit Subcommittee worked audit protocol agreement, 10% penalty on subsequent audit, a netting audit and refund tax prior to interest calculation. Its Legislative Subcommittee is developing a process through which tax policy issues can be addressed by CTAC. The Fuel Tax Subcommittee works in conjunction with the branch Fuel Tax Review Project to optimal tax collection point, the coloured fuel program, reporting requirements and enforcement. The Tobacco Tax Subcommittee has developed and added to CTAC the reporting requirements for the blackstock tobacco. Finally, the Process Streamlining Subcommittee is developing a proposal concerning a "remote stores policy" for tax-exempt purchase by status Indians and Indian Bands and reviewing vendor commission rates for social service tax.

Collection and Loan Management

Collection and Loan Management provides professional and cost-effective collection and loan administration services to government ministries and Crown agencies to maximize revenue from government's overdue receivables and loan assets. Collection and Loan Management was designated the central debt collector for non-tax accounts receivable in 2000. At the end of the year, CLMB had approximately $185 million in accounts receivable and $490 million in commercial loans and guarantees under its administration.

Accomplishments for Fiscal 2001/02 include:

The collection targets for Student Debt ($10.4 million) accounts and overdue BC Benefits ($3.0 million) overpayment or loans were met or exceeded ($10.4 million and $4.8 million respectively).

The cost-to-revenue ratio was lower than the target established for both Student Debt and BC Benefits.

The use of the Canada Customs and Revenue Agency to recover debts owed to the province was expanded to BC Benefits overpayments and overdue Medical Service Plan (MSP) premiums.

The value of BC Benefit overpayments transferred for collection doubled from the previous fiscal year.

The collection of overdue MSP premiums commenced in July 2001 and overdue Ambulance fees commenced in October 2001.

An internet/telephone banking process and an automated telephone call distribution system were implemented to improve client service.

The use of collection agencies was increased and the infrastructure necessary to improve and monitor collection agency performance was significantly enhanced.

Home Owner Grant Administration Branch

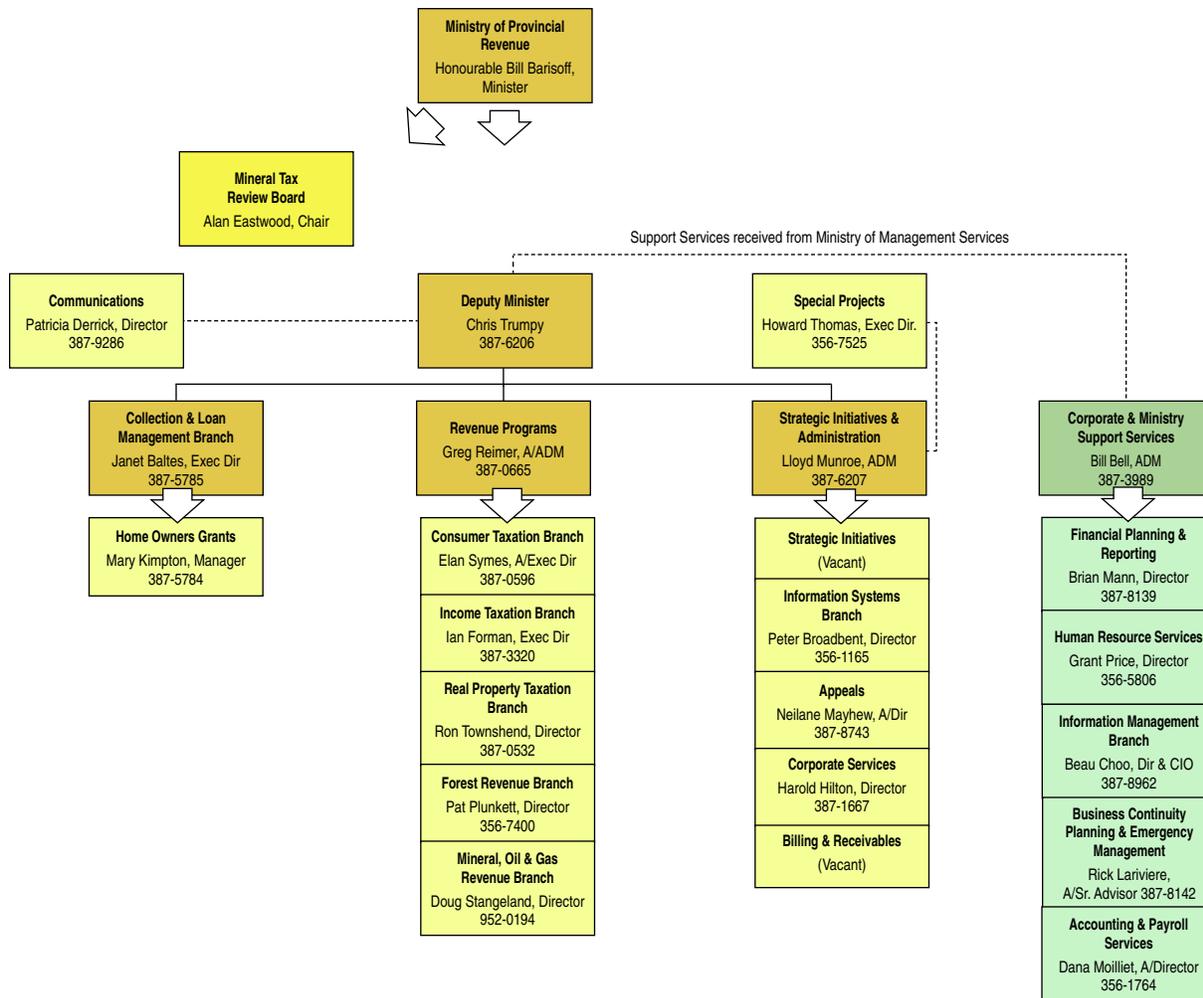

With the government reorganization, the Home Owner Grant Administration Branch was transferred to the ministry under the direction of Collection and Loan Management. The Home Owner Grant Program provides property tax relief to approximately 950,000 residents of British Columbia. Local governments and the Ministry administer the program in rural areas. The Home Owner Grant Administration Branch ensures the program is administered in a fair and equitable manner, has the authority to consider appeals, and audits grant claims.

In 2002/02 the branch audited 1,600 claims and recovered approximately $1 million.

Special Projects Office

A Special Projects Office was set up reporting directly to the Deputy Minister's office in January 2002. The purpose of the office is to develop a work plan to reduce the number of revenue systems in government and examine the feasibility of a corporate accounts receivable system across government.
